

Mindy Corporon did indeed find shelter from danger that day and continues to be covered in the grace of love against the hate and evil that invaded her life on April 13, 2014.

Like many other women with a successful career, Mindy manages to be a loving wife to her husband Len and mother to her son Lukas. Reat Underwood, her oldest son was slain along side her father, Dr. William Corporon by a self proclaimed Neo-Nazi hater. Mindy's father, her son Reat and another innocent bystander, Terri Lamanno, all became the victims of that hate. Attending a singing audition that day at the Jewish Community Campus and Village Shalom, they had no idea the building was being targeted as a place to kill Jewish people. The case drew national attention by all the major media outlets and was featured on Investigation Discovery's "Hate In America". The murderer has since been convicted and sentenced to death.

Looking at Mindy would never assume that such a petite lady has so much strength. She is amassed in a successful career as CEO and Co-Founder of Boyer-Corporon Wealth Management, LLC. The corporation was established as a Registered Investment Advisor with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in September, 2007. The company has a long heritage of serving the complex financial management needs of wealthy individuals and families around the nation. Today they serve families in 36 states with assets under management exceeding $400 million dollars.

Mindy's resume includes many noted pinnacles. Mindy was honored as one of the Kansas City metro area's 25 "Women Who Mean Business" in 2010. She was also one of only 12 local entrepreneurs chosen for the prestigious Helzberg Entrepreneurial Mentoring Program (HEMP). Mindy graduated with her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1990. Mindy and her family are active supporters of Operation Breakthrough, a local charity helping children who are living in poverty develop to their fullest potential. Mindy has served on the boards of the Community Foundation of Johnson County and the Blue Valley Educational Foundation, and as a member of the 2012 Donald H. Chisholm Planned Giving Council for the Children's Mercy Hospitals and Clinics.
